Amanwana, 'peaceful forest', is an exclusive retreat on Moyo Island, a national park and natural paradise east of Bali. In a private bay overlooking the Flores Sea, this conservation-supporting wilderness hideaway presents 17 elegant guest tents; a beachside restaurant, spa and library; and back-to-nature adventures, ranging from thrilling encounters with whale sharks to some of the finest scuba diving and snorkelling in Indonesia.

Due to its remote location, accommodation is offered on a full-board basis, with meals served in the Restaurant overlooking Amanwana Bay, Medang Island and the mountains of Sumbawa. Produce is grown in the resort's kitchen -gardens, seafood is sourced from the surrounding sea and tropical fruits and herbs add the unmistakable taste of Indonesia to every dish. A secluded sundowner at the Bar, set atop a volcanic ridge, is the perfect way to begin your evening while reliving the day's adventures.

One of Amanwana's most unique and exhilarating experiences is swimming alongside majestic whale sharks. A sunrise cruise to UNESCO-protected Saleh Bay, with breakfast served onboard, is followed by a guided underwater encounter with these gentle giants. Scuba diving and snorkelling enthusiasts will discover an array of marine life on pristine reefs just minutes from camp, while jungle treks reveal hidden waterfalls and abundant birdlife.

From Amanwana's coral-fringed shores, multi-day, on-sea adventures are possible on Aman's yacht, Amandira, to Rinca Island and through the marine-rich archipelago of Raja Ampat. The custom-built, 52-metre, two-masted Phinisi sailing vessel offers five spacious cabins, sleeping 10, with a crew of 14. Amandira can travel under sail as well as motor, with dive facilities including Nitrox to allow longer dive times for experienced divers.

Amanwana, 'peaceful forest', is an exclusive camp on Moyo Island, a national park and natural paradise east of Bali. In a private bay overlooking the Flores Sea, this conservation-supporting wilderness hideaway offers accommodation in 17 luxury guest tents; a beachside restaurant, spa and library; and back-to-nature adventures ranging from thrilling encounters with whale sharks to some of the finest scuba diving and snorkelling in Indonesia.

The camp's spacious guest tents rest along the shoreline beneath a canopy of tropical forest. Each 58-square-metre tent is constructed on a solid foundation from which wooden walls with large picture windows rise. Canvas ceilings are covered with a separate, waterproof exterior layer and coral stone surrounds the hardwood deck of each tent. Air-conditioned interiors feature Indonesian island artwork, hardwood flooring, a spacious sitting area, king-size bed, writing desk and large bathroom. Wireless Internet access is available in the tents and throughout the rest of the camp.

Due to Amanwana's remote location, accommodation is offered on a full-board basis, with meals served in the Restaurant, overlooking Amanwana Bay, Medang Island and the mountains of Sumbawa. A daily menu of Asian and Western food is served at breakfast, lunch and dinner, with fresh produce harvested from the island's kitchen -gardens, seafood sourced from the surrounding waters and tropical fruits and herbs adding the unmistakable taste of Indonesia to every dish.

The camp's open-air, jungle-fringed Spa is set back from the beach beneath a roof of shady tamarind trees. Three treatment rooms overlook Amanwana Bay – serene sanctuaries in which to enjoy Indonesian treatments, including Javanese massages.

Another inviting place to pause is the Bar, set atop the volcanic ridge above the camp. A secluded sundowner accompanied by panoramic views is the ideal way to start an evening while reliving the day's adventures, perhaps followed by a starlit campfire dinner on the beach.
